

Fungus emerging a serious global Health threat

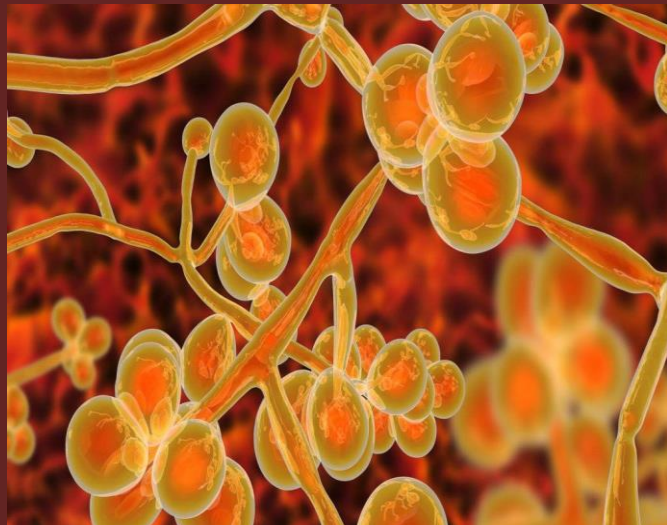

Candida auris, a deadly infectious fungal attach themselves to hydrophobic surfaces using electrical charges.

The fungus makes protien called SCF1, which contains postively charged amino acid , get attracted to negtively charged surfaces, including skin and medical devices.

How can we prevent fungus from binding to surfaces and head off illness?

Scan me

Candida auris